

Alabama Accountability Act of 2013

The Jefferson County Board of Education will not admit students who reside outside the established attendance zones of Jefferson County with the exception of out-of-district transfers for children of employees and racial desegregation transfers, and admission to the Jefferson County International Baccalaureate School (JCIB) and other area-wide specialized academies, all of which may only be permitted by and in accordance with federal court orders regarding desegregation. The Jefferson County Board of Education elects not to enroll students who reside outside the Jefferson County attendance zone(s) under the Alabama Accountability Act of 2013.
